

BUILDING A CONTEXT FOR RELATIONSHIP

An interactive workshop with Janet Klees

“We cannot create relationship, but we can recognize, encourage and design opportunities in which the miracle of relationship is more likely to occur.”

This workshop is for families who want to explore and discover opportunities for relationships that abound within our communities. Ensuring your loved one is involved in meaningful ways and developing their interests and potential are at the heart of this workshop. No matter what our age, caring relationships are central to our health and wellbeing.

This workshop is based upon the belief that when communities are able to invite, welcome and appreciate the contributions of its most vulnerable members, we all benefit.
